

HAZEL GREEN HERALD.

SPENCER COOPER, Owner and Editor.

"Of a Noisy World, With News From All Nations Lumbering at His Back."

$1.00 A YEAR, Always in Advance.

EIGHTH YEAR.

HAZEL GREEN, WOLFE COUNTY, KY., FRIDAY, MAY 13, 1892.

NUMBER 8.

The Greatest Effort

— OF —

OUR LIVES! NEVER EQUALLED

— IN THE —

History of Lexington!

Louis & Gus Straus' DISPLAY OF SPRING CLOTHING

Every Department Overflowing to its utmost capacity. This is not a cent-penny sale of any kind, but good honest values and qualities at fair prices. During the coming week we will display full lines of Men's and Boys' Clothing—representing the leading and best manufacturers in the United States and Europe. We will forfeit our reputation of thirty years' standing in Lexington. We have never failed to keep our promises heretofore:

That we will sell you the best Men's Suit at $5.
That we will sell you the best Men's Suit at $10.
That we will sell you the best Men's Suit at $15.
That we will sell you the best Men's Suit at $20.
That we will sell you the best Men's Suit at $25.

OUR : MERCHANT : TAILORING : DEPARTMENT

Is the finest in the United States. Our Cutters and Workmen are first-class artists. We are doing the largest business we have ever done. Come and make your selections early.

L. & C. STRAUS. LEADING CLOTHIERS and FINE TAILORS, LEXINGTON, KENTUCKY.

BEST IN QUANTITY. BEST IN QUALITY.

WORMS!
WHITE'S CREAM
VERMIFUGE
FOR 20 YEARS
Has led all Worm Remedies.
EVERY BOTTLE GUARANTEED.
SOLD EVERYWHERE.
Prepared by RICHARDSON-TAYLOR MED. CO., ST. LOUIS.

TABLER'S PILE
BUCKEYE PILE OINTMENT
CURES NOTHING BUT PILES.

A SURE AND CERTAIN CURE
Known for 15 years as the BEST REMEDY FOR PILES.

Prepared by RICHARDSON-TAYLOR MED. CO., ST. LOUIS.

GRAND OPENING

— AT THE —

English Kitchen, No. 12, W. Short Street, : Lexington, Ky.

Regular Meals 25 Cents. Meals to Order at All Hours. Breakfast from 5 A. M. to 9 A. M. Dinner from 10 A. M. to 3 P. M. Supper from 5 P. M. to 9 P. M. Oysters, Lamb Fries, Fish, Chickens and Quails a specialty. Open from 5 A. M. to 12 P. M.

GUS LUCART, Proprietor.

JOHN M. ROSE.

B. G. JONES.

ROSE & JONES, DEALERS IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE,

HAZEL GREEN, KENTUCKY.

Carry a complete line of Dry Goods, Notions, Ladies' Dress Goods, Men's Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Patent Medicines, Saddles, Harness, &c., and sell FOR CASH at prices lower than ever before seen in Hazel Green. All goods guaranteed as represented or money refunded.

JOB PRINTING NEATLY, CHEAPLY and PROMPTLY EXECUTED AT THIS OFFICE. Send your order

OKLAHOMA. Drought Prevailing and Starvation the Outlook.

ELDORADO, OKLA., May 2, '92.

EDITOR HERALD: According to my promise I will let my friends hear from me and the Kentucky colony through your valuable paper. I have been waiting for some good tidings to send, but alas! I have failed to get them. We are in the midst of a drought. We have no rain for eight weeks, and oats and wheat are a failure, and the grass is drying up. This is making the Kentucky boys who breasted the northwest winds of March so bravely falter, though there has been rain 20 miles south and 18 miles north and northwest of us. This gives me courage, for if grain is raised within that distance of me I can get my bread and seed.

J. M. Cockerham and family have given up the chase for riches in northwest Texas and will start for their old Kentucky home in a few days. W. T. Ingram's face is a little longer, but says he is here to stay. S. P. Napier talks a little easy about matters relative to the drought in this country, but says he intends to try it three years before he surrenders. Fayette James is standing it well; he says it will rain some time or other. James Hardly will he have to stay. W. F. Elkins snaps his eyes and says but little about it. Isaac Elkins gets his breath a little long, but don't say much. Mort Pfeiffer says it will take starvation to drive him away. Charlie Ringo laughs and keeps saying Old Uncle Jimmie Sample came up here two weeks ago in bad health. He is now improving fast, and says he is about able to work.

We have plenty of rattlesnakes and prairie-dogs. S. P. Napier killed a rattlesnake that had seven prairie dogs in his stomach. I killed two rattlers yesterday that were each about four long. Mr. Swacy, who lives two miles from me, had a little girl bitten by a rattler last week. The child died seven hours afterwards from the effects of the bite. This is the only person that I have heard of dying from the bite of a snake.

Well, I am still of the opinion that this country is destined to be a great country in the near future, but I think it will take a man with an iron nerve to overcome the obstacles he has to meet. Society is good, the people are clever, and better neighbors I have never had, but the drought and high winds make my face a little long and my under lip hang a little low. Dr. Jim Tut and his folks look a little blue, but aside from this they are all enjoying good health. Ova Swango has some eyes, and has little to say about anything.

When it rains I will write again. Wishing THE HERALD and its editor much success, I remain your friend,

DAVID HOGG.

Murder, Suicide, Etc.

A special to the Cincinnati Enquirer from Paducah, recently, gives the following mishaps occurring within 24 hours: Isabelle Grubbs, a nymph, tired of living the life she was following, took some unknown drug and was found dead in bed. Jim Knapp, a negro tough, incensed because a teamster drove too near him, rocked the driver, and when he protested, drew a pistol and shot him, but only slightly. Knapp was jailed. A footpad held up a logger, F. M. Hodges, from Tennessee, and got $25 of the $50 he had on his person. A stranger was caught by highwaymen and robbed of even the shoes on his feet.

In addition to these local incidents, a hack driver named Davis fatally assaulted another named Jones at Clinton, crushing his head with a club. At Lowe's, Bob Charlton cut Charlie Robert quite seriously in a fight.

Ethan Allen, Jr.

S. B. Woodward, of Saratoga, who sold Ethan Allen, Jr., to W. T. Withers several years ago, says: "Twenty-seven years' experience in using Quinn's Ointment has fully demonstrated that it is the most reliable remedy I know of. I recommend it to all horsemen." Sold by Rose & Jones.

The buffalo gnats in Graves, Ballard and Hickman counties are killing many horses, cattle and fowls. The people are themselves suffering from the pests, and are alarmed over their ravages.

Job printing cheap at this office.

MUSICAL MOTTOES

Which Served as Inspiration to the Guests
Speakers at the Banquet to the Kentucky Press Association.

The list of toasts proposed at the banquet to the members of the Kentucky Press Association and accompanying ladies, was arranged by Judge J. Soule Smith, better known as "Falcon." Following are the names of the toasts, the toast speaker and the quotations, which are exceptionally beautiful and apt, which served as inspiration to the after dinner orators:

"Old Kaintuck"—Gov. John Young Brown, of Kentucky.

"Terra antiqua potens armis, atque ubere gaebea."

"An ancient land potent in arms, and in its fertile soil."

"The Children of God's Country"—Ex-Gov. T. T. Crittenden, of Missouri.

"No matter where I be, in every land my mother's blood throbs in my veins, and he who counts its pulsings is my brother."

"The Pennyroy"—Urey Woodson, Owensboro Messenger.

"Like the heart of a woman I exhale fragrance even when bruised."

"The Mountains"—Tom H. Arnold, Middleborough Critic.

"They rise above the morning's mist, And when the first to greet the sun; And when the weary day is done, They sink to slumber, Heaven-kissed."

"Lexington"—W. P. Kimball.

"The Spring laughs when its sunbeams kiss her, and the Summer dreams of heaven where she needles in her heart."

"Education"—Judge W. M. Beckner, of Winchester.

"She is shears which cut the threads of superstition, and knives which slay falsehoods, but the schoolmaster doth sharpen them..."

"The Learned Doctors"—Dr. J. Bryan.

"Chirurgians and apothecaries, Atque tota compagia australi, Ausa, honor, et argentum, Atque bona appetitum."

"To the surgeons and apothecaries, And the company assembled, Health, honor, lots of money And a good appetite."

"The Law"—Emmett Logan, Louisville Times.

"But I prithee, sweet swag, shall there be gallows standing in England when thou art King?"—and resolution thus foisted as it were with the rusty curb of old father antick, the law?"

"Woman"—J. Soule Smith, "Falcon."

"She is pretty to walk with,

And witty to talk with,

And pleasant, too, to think on."

"The Press"—It embraces all of them

"E. Polk Johnson, Frankfort Capital.

"Prithee, take the cork out of thy mouth,

That I might drink thy tidings."

"The Poets of Kentucky"—Heury T. Stanton, of Frankfort.

"Sing when the sunlight falls, Sing when the blue bird calls, Sing to the mountain heights, But whisper in moonlight nights."

OPENING REGISTERED MAIL.

A Deed—Elected to the National Republican Convention on a Serious Charge.

O. A. Huffman, a well-known and well-to-do citizen of Cammer, Hart county, who is a delegate-elect to the National Republican convention from the Fourth Congressional district, was arrested last week on a charge of opening registered letters addressed to his sister-in-law, Mrs. Hettie Huffman.

Mrs. Huffman, in her affidavit for a warrant, states that two years ago Huffman received a registered letter from the postmaster at Cammer, promising that official to deliver it to her, but failed to do so, and took from it $20. She also says that he subsequently received from the postmaster another registered letter addressed to her containing $17, which he also appropriated.

SIX INCHES LONG.

A midget child, bright and handsome, has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Moore, of Springfield, Ohio. The baby is a girl and weighs less than three pounds with its clothes on, and after a week's existence seems as well and hearty as other infants. The child is about six inches in length and as fat as the body is concerned is perfectly developed. A finger ring can easily be inserted on its legs and arms. There is a romance also connected with its birth. The parents were recently married and the truth was not known until the child was born.

Falling hair may be prevented, brashy hair made soft, and a renewed growth of the hair stimulated by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor.

Monthly Crop Report.

The action of the legislature in appropriating $100,000 for Kentucky's exhibit at the World's Columbian Exposition to be held at Chicago, ought to be gratifying to every farmer in the State. Gov. Brown has appointed five commissioners, who are honest and judicious men, to take charge of the money, and they will make such an exhibit as will be of great value to the business interest of the State, and who doubts that, in the competition for the various prizes, that there will be more money brought back in premiums to Kentucky than was appropriated by the legislature.

The following report is made from reports of correspondents from every section of the State.

Wheat.—In my report of April 1st, I gave the condition of wheat at 92 as compared with same time last year. The last days of March and first days of April were fine for wheat, in fact vegetation of all kinds indicated an early spring; but on the 8th of the month the weather changed, the temperature dropped to and below 30, with several hard freezes, and continued cold and cool until about the 25th; but from nearly all reports the wheat was not damaged, and I have to report it never looking better at this time of the year, and a bountiful harvest is anticipated.

Amount of old wheat on hand $4 per cent.

Corn.—Very little corn planted, owing to the very wet weather; from the 25th to the 28th the weather was fine for planting, but not many farmers were ready for planting. The planting season is later than it used to be. The larger part of the crop used to be planted in April, now the larger part of it is planted in May, and often running into June.

Report as to acreage, 85 per cent.

Sorghum.—Acreage as compared to last year, 65 per cent.

Potatoes.—Acreage, compared with last year, 89 per cent.

Tobacco.—As to acreage compared with last year, 85 per cent; plants plentiful and looking well, in some few places killed by frost, and washed out and covered up by heavy rains.

Clover.—The crop looks well; the sowing this spring escaped the freezes and looks well. As compared with last year, 101 per cent.

Timothy.—Is not so well advanced as clover, but is looking well. As compared to last year, 100 per cent.

Pastures.—All kinds looking well, but would be improved by some warm, sunny days.

Hemp.—The present crop was thought to be all killed by the freezes of this month. Some very early cherries and strawberries were killed, but enough escaped to make a large yield. Very few early apples killed, and from present indications the crop of apples will be small, 74 per cent.

Apples.—The early fruit was thought to be all killed by the freezes of this month. Some very early cherries and strawberries were killed, but enough escaped to make a large yield. Very few early apples killed, and from present indications the crop of apples will be abundant.

Peaches.—Reports vary as to the peach crop; some correspondents report them badly damaged, while others report that the crop will be abundant, unless killed hereafter. Estimated per cent, 55.

Stock.—All kinds of stock wintered well except in some few counties, sheep have not done well. Since my last report there has been some improvement in price of mules, from the fact there is a better demand for cotton. The fat cattle market fully one dollar per hundred less than this time last year.

Gardens.—The demand for garden seed and seed corn has been very great. I wish I could have been able to have supplied them all, but it would have required a very large appropriation to have done so.

Very respectfully,

NICHOLAS McDOWELL,
Commissioner.

If your blood is vitiated, cleanse it without delay by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Heavy rains have caused floods in portions of Illinois, Iowa and Kansas. Much damage has been done to property.

Use the best preparation to cure gray hair and baldness—Ayer's Hair Renewer.

The President approved the Chinese Exclusion bill.

Hazel Green Herald.

SPENCER COOPER, Publisher.

HAZEL GREEN, ILLINOIS.

ROBBING AN EAGLE'S NEST.

The Dangerous Adventure of a Naturalist in the Alps.

Mr. Grohman, an Englishman, was passing his annual vacation in the Tyrol, when he was told that a pair of golden eagles had been ravaging one of the valleys, and were supposed to have their eyrie on a certain mountain side. A naturalist, a reporter, had offered the services of several woodcutters, and started before daylight, meaning, if possible, to secure the young bird which was believed to be then in the nest. They ascended the mountain, and looking over the edge of the perpendicular cliff could see a ledge about a hundred feet below them. The party consisted of nine men, including Mr. Grohman. One of them remained at the top while the other eight lowered them to the ledge. There fastened the fine-fathomed half-inch rope to the stump of a tree fixed a block of wood against the cliff for the rope to run over, fastened an iron hook in a crevice of the rocks, and prepared to lower Mr. Grohman to the eyrie, which could be seen far below them.

A strong leather belt was fastened round his waist, with an iron ring in front through which the rope passed. To the end of this rope a stone weight was attached, so that this Mr. Grohman seated himself astride.

With a rifle on his back, a revolver in his pocket, a big knife in his belt, and a long pole in his hands, he was ready to start. Five men took hold of the rope, while the other two lay flat upon the rocks, rifles in hand, looking over the edge of the cliff. If the old birds should attack the intruder, his life would be on the two rifles.

He had been in such conditions before but as he swung off into space, the prodigious height had at first a sort of paralyzing effect upon his mind. Little by little the feeling wore off, and soon he was really enjoying the sensation of hanging on a rope scarcely bigger than a man's finger over an abyss nearly a thousand feet in depth.

The descent lasted ten or fifteen minutes. Then he found himself opposite a eaglet, which joined him on the ledge. It was ten or twelve feet from the ledge, but with his pole, which had a hook at one end, he was able to draw himself in, and presently was looking cautiously over the edge of the nest, which, to his astonishment, contained not one eaglet, but two.

One of them, not without some lively efforts, he put into the canvas bag which he had brought for the purpose; the other he finally managed to secure by pinning a noose over its feet. He had the bag ready to signal, and arranged himself on his wooden seat, the second bird in his left hand and gave the signal.

The men on the ledge above, contrary to instructions, gave a vigorous pull, which wrenched the pole out of Mr. Grohman's hands, and sent him away from the cliff at a frightful pace. The retrograde movement was likely to dash him against the rock with deadly force.

There was but one thing to do, and he had presence of mind enough to do it. He tilted the upper part of his body backward and his legs forward, and struck the rock with his feet, with no worse result than a paralyzing feel in his legs and a twitching sensation in his back and joints.

Just as the rock object flashed past him, so near that he felt the rush of air produced by its fall. He supposed it to be a stone; but presently he perceived that instead of being drawn upward he was quite stationary. One hour passed, then two hours, and still he swung there at the end of the rope. The day was far advanced; the old eagles were likely to return at any minute. To add to his misfortunes, a sharp thunder-storm came on, wetting him to the skin, and nearly blinding him with lightning.

At last, when he had thus hung between Heaven and earth for more than three hours, he felt a tug upon the rope, and in fifteen minutes was at the top with his two prizes.

It turned out that the falling object was the block over which the rope had run. This it was that had cut the sharp edge of the rock, and the long delay had been occasioned by the necessity of sending the one man at the top down to the base of the peak to fell a young tree, and make a second block.

He was returning with the block when the thunder-shower overtook him. A flash of lightning struck a boulder close by, and threw him senseless to the ground. If the lightning had struck him, the result of Mr. Grohman's situation would have been serious indeed. Probably the whole party would have starved to death.—Youth's Companion.

How It Is Done.

Jones—Why, Brown, your claim is preposterous. Did you ever expect to get it through congress?

Brown—Easy enough; I've hired an influential United States senator for my lawyer.

"Ah, I see. But it must cost a heap of money."

"Yes; and I have taken him in as a partner, too."—Texas Siftings

FOR TRUSTS ONLY.

The Republican Plan is for the Benefit of Corporations Alone.

The democratic party is trying to remonetize the real wealth of the country—its wheat, corn, cotton, provisions and other articles of international exchange.

The price of all commodities exported by us under the republican tariff again reflects a heavy tax on the remonetization of the European gold supply, and it is a universally admitted fact that there is not gold enough in Europe to carry on the international trade of this modern world. The republican secretary of the treasury, the late Mr. Windom, admitted this in his reports, and he reiterated it in the last speech he ever made.

Yet this is admitted, we put a tax averaging sixteen per cent. on the buying power of all the surplus the Mississippi valley exports to Europe. This tax is not levied on the outgoing commodity, for the constitution forbids taxes on exports. The same end is reached, however, by levying the tax again to return cargoes of manufactured goods. The surplus of Europe is chiefly in manufactured goods. It can pay in manufactured goods for our surplus far higher prices than it can pay in any other way. But we are not allowed to sell for gold, or to buy for gold to sell for gold or for a few selected articles of raw material. No one can fail to see that this limits both the quantity and the price of our valley exports.

We ship a cargo of wheat or cotton to England or Germany. We demand gold for importation to America. The answer is, we will not give gold for our exports. There is barely enough available for our demands. Our governments have demonetized silver. We need your goods, but we are practically out of money, and if you demand gold only we cannot trade."

This is not said in so many words, for business men do not take time for "so many words." They simply decline to trade. Then the seller looks around for something he can buy with his valuable articles, and offers his wheat or gold only, have gone to a less than living selling price. As measured against the scarcity of gold in Europe, they become too cheap to bear the expense of exporting. He finds an examination that if he buys raw sugar and a few other like articles, he can get them into the United States without being fined for it. So he exchanges them for raw sugar and other articles needed by our trusts and sells the trusts what he is allowed to bring back as return cargoes.

Of course, this is not intended to be accepted as a statement of the details of the trade, but it is a fair and accurate outline of the general course of our valley trade with Europe. But for articles of foreign production now on the free list, we would have no exports at all, for there is not gold enough in Europe for our use. The democratic party in New York does not propose to abuse the power bestowed upon it by a majority of fifty thousand at the recent election.—Albany Argus.

A SHAMELESS OUTRAGE.

The Plan Adopted by Republicans to Steal Ohio.

The republican party in Ohio has determined to perpetrate the grossest outrage upon popular representation conceived in years. The two great parties are of almost equal strength in the state as shown by the fact that for years past it has been represented in the United States senate by a democrat and a republican, and democrats and republicans have alternated as a rule in the chair of the governor. The state is entitled to twenty-one members of congress, and on a fair apportionment the democrats are entitled to ten, or at least nine. In the tidal wave of 1890 they carried fourteen districts. The republicans now propose to gerrymander the state so that only five districts shall be represented while the other fifteen shall be republican. To carry out this fraud, it has been necessary to ignore population as a basis of representation, and some of the democratic districts have doubled the population of republican districts.

The wrong is done not to the democrat of Ohio alone but to the democracy of the entire country. By this iniquity the democratic party is robbed of four members in the next house of representatives by a method as shameless as the stuffing of ballot boxes or the erosion of votes.

The democracy of New York have just framed a congressional apportionment bill. Although this state almost invariably gives a democratic majority and it has not for years given a republican majority exceeding twenty thousand, this democratic bill makes only seventeen districts democratic, fourteen republican and one democratic. The metric of the democracy of New York is met by highway robbery on the part of Ohio republicanism. The four democratic seats it is proposed to steal in Ohio are stolen from the entire party, from New York democrats as much as from Ohio democrats. It would be an easy matter for the party in this state to do a wrong that shall thwart the wrong proposed in Ohio, and the temptation to fight the fire is a strong temptation to resist the wrong. The democratic party in New York does not propose to abuse the power bestowed upon it by a majority of fifty thousand at the recent election.—Albany Argus.

WOULD NOT REJECT IT.

Harrison Would Undoubtedly Be Glad of the Renomination.

President Harrison would cause the greatest trouble if he should decline to be a candidate for renomination. The senator has been in the Harrison cabinet, was one of his original supporters in the last convention, and is an intimate confidential friend of the president. It does not seem to be questioned that he has made this statement. The reasons assigned for the determination of the president give it plausibility. He realizes that there is a popular feeling that he is a good man, and a good man and that a president necessarily crosses the interests of a good many people and is not likely to be as strong a new man. He finds that in half a century there have been but two exceptions to the one-term rule—Lincoln and Grant—and they were reelected by the stress of great issues with which they were identified. Harrison has been unable to secure the support of the Ohio business men, will not serve him any better with the greater power. The fact that his own state has been allowed to elect delegates for him looks like candidacy, but his pride may be involved in this. Possibly he would have the convention tender him the nomination in the confiding expectation that he would hand it back. That might be a candidate's scheme, but the business men will not be satisfied unless he declines. It may be safer to understand that he will decline to run only in the event that the majority of the delegates decide to select another man. St. Paul Globe.

NOTES AND OPINIONS.

—President Harrison's patriotism is somewhat inflamed just now because negotiations are not going his way, but all that will be abayed by the news of November, if not before.—Detroit Free Press.

—Boss Quay says that "the republican presidential nomination will still siniply itself as the days go by." And it will. Mr. Harrison is arranging the delegations so as to make as little dash as possible, and Judge Wood is keeping an eye on all legal aspects.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

—There are some public men who think that a political issue is settled by the act of congress. McKinley and Reed, for example, and others of their following, supposed that the McKinley act settled the tariff question. By the same token some democrats propose to get "silver out of politics" by passing a free coinage measure. They should recall the fact that the republican settlers were very much in the minority in November.

—It is proposed to apply rigid rules to the flights of political orators. The president of the republican convention in Iowa the other day spoke of James G. Blaine as "the most commanding figure of all the earth—the idol, not only of his own party, but of all the earth." If the speaker had thought of it he would have included the universe, no doubt. When the precise facts and figures of the matter of the world has ever heard of Blaine? The human asylums would hold about those who want to make him their idol.—St. Paul Globe.

—There will be mourning among republicans who hailed the passage of the Gatch bill by one branch of the Iowa legislature as evidence that the party had finally escaped from the clutches of prohibition cranks. Democrats redeemed their promises to the people. Republicans must still shoulder the responsibility for another year of fanaticism.—Chicago Times.

THE OLD FIREPLACE.

Romantic Associations That Cluster Around Its Memory.

The spirit of innovation has invaded nearly every household in the land, and caused the old fireplace to be filled up. In many cases it was an invasion, pure and simple. An improvement may be always an innovation, but not every improvement is an improvement. Few, if any, houses, can be found where the fireplace is used as it was before the stove as a utensil for cooking came into use. The stove was an improvement, and no one would think of going back to the fireplace and its swinging door.

It is a common custom to sit in the room, parlor, into every room where there was a fireplace, and demand that the "blackened holes in the wall" should be filled up and forever removed from sight. Then came the smart parlor stove, perhaps with nickel trimmings and a kind of graveyard urn on top.

How much was blotted out when that broad fireplace disappeared! What recollections, reminiscences, old-time feeling and sentiment, aye, and sacred memories were buried, walled up, in that brick and mortar! And what cheerfulness and companionship was shut in and stayed forever! The room has lost something, a delightful, entertaining companion, always bright and gay, if intended to. But now the hearthstone is a cold, and it stands a black, stupid thing, often contrary, often smoking; a thing on legs, with its gorgon eyes staring through glass spectacles.

It was a long time before the older members of the family could be reconciled to the stove. When the day's work was done and the family gathered for evening enjoyment, then it appeared as if something had gone out of the world. A cherished friend was silent forever.

In the long winter evenings how the farmer enjoyed himself before the burning logs. He smoked his pipe, may be warmed his mug of cider, or made flip by heating irons and thrusting them into the cider; or toying with the poker, petted the fire and drew out roasted apples and chestnuts. And how the fire-lit room and the family gathered around it, with the handful of coals in the black box called a stove appear mean and stony.

Why was innovation allowed to run rampant through the house? Why was it not restrained, or rather compelled, to keep its hands off the fireplace in the room where the family gathered for enjoyment? Because, in many cases, the fireplace was the chief source of heat.

—The fire was a great comfort, and a source of pleasure, but the smoke was a pest. The smoke was bad for health, hence the younger members of the family prevailed, and innovation, or fashion, laid in ruins one of our most useful institutions, the open wood fire, for a roaring wood fire attracts, entertains and keeps its audience at home, while the stove repels, and may drive the worst company. A fireplace will win where a stove will not. Why, when we are found in looking at a stove?

A fireplace or fireplaces, ought to be in every house, old or new. They are domestic agents for great good. They purify and keep the air good, and they do a great deal toward keeping the occupants of the house good, and in health and spirits. If a fireplace remains, and fashion wishes to demolish it, resist to the last. Do not think that the fire will stay with you when you are found in looking at a stove?

A fireplace, or fireplaces, ought to be in every house, old or new. They are domestic agents for great good. They purify and keep the air good, and they do a great deal toward keeping the occupants of the house good, and in health and spirits. If a fireplace remains, and fashion wishes to demolish it, resist to the last. Do not think that the fire will stay with you when you are found in looking at a stove?

—The fire is a great comfort, and a source of pleasure, but the smoke was a pest. The smoke was bad for health, hence the younger members of the family prevailed, and innovation, or fashion, laid in ruins one of our most useful institutions, the open wood fire, for a roaring wood fire attracts, entertains and keeps its audience at home, while the stove repels, and may drive the worst company. A fireplace will win where a stove will not. Why, when we are found in looking at a stove?

—The fire is a great comfort, and a source of pleasure, but the smoke was a pest. The smoke was bad for health, hence the younger members of the family prevailed, and innovation, or fashion, laid in ruins one of our most useful institutions, the open wood fire, for a roaring wood fire attracts, entertains and keeps its audience at home, while the stove repels, and may drive the worst company. A fireplace will win where a stove will not. Why, when we are found in looking at a stove?

—The fire is a great comfort, and a source of pleasure, but the smoke was a pest. The smoke was bad for health, hence the younger members of the family prevailed, and innovation, or fashion, laid in ruins one of our most useful institutions, the open wood fire, for a roaring wood fire attracts, entertains and keeps its audience at home, while the stove repels, and may drive the worst company. A fireplace will win where a stove will not. Why, when we are found in looking at a stove?

—The fire is a great comfort, and a source of pleasure, but the smoke was a pest. The smoke was bad for health, hence the younger members of the family prevailed, and innovation, or fashion, laid in ruins one of our most useful institutions, the open wood fire, for a roaring wood fire attracts, entertains and keeps its audience at home, while the stove repels, and may drive the worst company. A fireplace will win where a stove will not. Why, when we are found in looking at a stove?

—The fire is a great comfort, and a source of pleasure, but the smoke was a pest. The smoke was bad for health, hence the younger members of the family prevailed, and innovation, or fashion, laid in ruins one of our most useful institutions, the open wood fire, for a roaring wood fire attracts, entertains and keeps its audience at home, while the stove repels, and may drive the worst company. A fireplace will win where a stove will not. Why, when we are found in looking at a stove?

—The fire is a great comfort, and a source of pleasure, but the smoke was a pest. The smoke was bad for health, hence the younger members of the family prevailed, and innovation, or fashion, laid in ruins one of our most useful institutions, the open wood fire, for a roaring wood fire attracts, entertains and keeps its audience at home, while the stove repels, and may drive the worst company. A fireplace will win where a stove will not. Why, when we are found in looking at a stove?

—The fire is a great comfort, and a source of pleasure, but the smoke was a pest. The smoke was bad for health, hence the younger members of the family prevailed, and innovation, or fashion, laid in ruins one of our most useful institutions, the open wood fire, for a roaring wood fire attracts, entertains and keeps its audience at home, while the stove repels, and may drive the worst company. A fireplace will win where a stove will not. Why, when we are found in looking at a stove?

—The fire is a great comfort, and a source of pleasure, but the smoke was a pest. The smoke was bad for health, hence the younger members of the family prevailed, and innovation, or fashion, laid in ruins one of our most useful institutions, the open wood fire, for a roaring wood fire attracts, entertains and keeps its audience at home, while the stove repels, and may drive the worst company. A fireplace will win where a stove will not. Why, when we are found in looking at a stove?

—The fire is a great comfort, and a source of pleasure, but the smoke was a pest. The smoke was bad for health, hence the younger members of the family prevailed, and innovation, or fashion, laid in ruins one of our most useful institutions, the open wood fire, for a roaring wood fire attracts, entertains and keeps its audience at home, while the stove repels, and may drive the worst company. A fireplace will win where a stove will not. Why, when we are found in looking at a stove?

—The fire is a great comfort, and a source of pleasure, but the smoke was a pest. The smoke was bad for health, hence the younger members of the family prevailed, and innovation, or fashion, laid in ruins one of our most useful institutions, the open wood fire, for a roaring wood fire attracts, entertains and keeps its audience at home, while the stove repels, and may drive the worst company. A fireplace will win where a stove will not. Why, when we are found in looking at a stove?

—The fire is a great comfort, and a source of pleasure, but the smoke was a pest. The smoke was bad for health, hence the younger members of the family prevailed, and innovation, or fashion, laid in ruins one of our most useful institutions, the open wood fire, for a roaring wood fire attracts, entertains and keeps its audience at home, while the stove repels, and may drive the worst company. A fireplace will win where a stove will not. Why, when we are found in looking at a stove?

—The fire is a great comfort, and a source of pleasure, but the smoke was a pest. The smoke was bad for health, hence the younger members of the family prevailed, and innovation, or fashion, laid in ruins one of our most useful institutions, the open wood fire, for a roaring wood fire attracts, entertains and keeps its audience at home, while the stove repels, and may drive the worst company. A fireplace will win where a stove will not. Why, when we are found in looking at a stove?

Rather risky

—the offer that's made by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Risky for them. For you, if you have Catarrh, it's a certainty. You're certain to be cured of it, or to be paid $500. That's what they offer, and in good faith—they cure you, or pay you, no matter how bad your case, or of how long standing.

But it is so much of a risk? They have a medicine that cures Catarrh, not for a time, but for all time. They've watched it for years, curing the most hopeless cases. They know that in your case there's every chance of success, almost no chance of failure.

Wouldn't any one take such a risk with such a medicine?

The only question is—are you willing to make the test, if the makers are willing to take the trial risk?

If so, the rest is easy. You pay your druggist fifty cents and the trial begins.

“August Flower”

"I am happy to state to you and to suffering humanity, that my wife has used your wonderful remedy, August Flower, for sick headache and palpitation of the heart, with satisfactory results. For several years she has been a great sufferer, has been under the treatment of eminent physicians in this city and Boston, and found little relief. She was induced to try August Flower, which gave immediate relief. We cannot say for much it is." L. C. Frost, Springfield, Mass.

EVERY FAMILY,

School, Library, and Office

S-M-O-U-L-D

Have a Dictionarv.

Care should be taken to

GET THE BEST.

New from C. L. Co., the author of the "UNABRIDGED."

IS THE ONE TO BUY.

10 years spent revising, all editors employed, $30,000 expended.

All Books, Writers, Send to

G. & M. MERRILL & CO.,

Springfield, Mass., U.S.A.,

for free specimen pages.

BUNTING

When you buy Flags you want the best. Government Standard is the best; the largest flag dealers in the U. S. are G. W. SIMMONS & CO., Oak Hall, Boston, Mass. Dealers in Military Uniforms. Write for a Flag Catalogue.

FLAGS.

HAZEL GREEN HERALD.

SPENCER COOPER, EDITOR.

HAZEL GREEN, KY.
FRIDAY, May 13, 1892.

CURRENT NEWS AND COMMENT.

The report comes from Greenville, Miss., that the Mississippi river is higher than ever before known, but as the levees have withstood the flood so far and remain intact, no danger of inundation is feared.

An entire span of the Memphis and Charleston bridge at Florence, Ala., gave way Friday of last week and Jack Hallett, a brakeman on the train, was killed outright, while Engineer Clew was so badly injured that he cannot recover.

OUR Legislature is composed of a body of first-class "time-killers," and the people pay the piper. The expenditures of the State government for April were $279,244.61, leaving a deficit of $70,891.77 in the general fund, and a total of only $381,201.63 in the treasury.

Two negro murderers, L. D. Slaughter and Thos. Baily, were executed at Little Rock, Ark., at noon on Friday last. Both of their necks were broken by the fall. Slaughter killed his mistress, and Baily murdered a peddler. The hanging was in the jail enclosure and witnessed by only about twenty persons.

BILLY MAHONE last week succeeded in preventing the Virginia Republicans from instructing for Harrison, for whom he has neither political nor personal friendship. Mahone is a manipulator from "way back, and should Harrison be nominated, Virginia Republicans will only give him a lukewarm support.

MCINERY, the Representative from Kenton county who was recently called before a committee of the General Assembly to answer charges of conduct unbecoming a gentleman and a legislator, and who received a coat of whitewash too thin to hide his conduct, last week introduced a bill to close all barbershops on Sunday.

THE Sentinel Democrat, though disfigured by fire, showed up Friday as usual, and our old friend Cassidy certainly deserves praise for his promptness and energy in the matter. To him and Capt. Havens THE HERALD extends sympathy for their losses, and stands ready and willing to aid them in any way it can.

THE handwriting on the wall seems to have been indited with indelible ink, and the people of the country read the lines, "Grover Cleveland will be the nominee of the Chicago convention and our next President." Like heretofore appeared in dimly outlined characters have faded from view. The people rule, not the politicians.

IN an interview last week, a Southern Senator in Washington said: "The leaders of the Alliance have made a complete failure in their effort to organize a political party, and the third party cloud that has been hanging over some of the Southern States is beginning to dissipate. I do not think the third party will cut much of a figure in any locality, and will not carry a single electoral vote in the whole country."

CANDIDATES for Congress in this district should place their announcements early, that "the dear people" may know who is in the field. For the service we can render our rates are extremely liberal, and their patronage is herewith solicited. Announcements are $10 each, in advance, and other matters in their interest will be 10 cents a line, with a 10 per cent. discount where the matter is 100 lines or more. Now is the time to announce.

SENATOR CARLISLE, in an interview with a New York World representative a few days since, says: "I certainly am not a candidate for President in the sense of seeking the nomination. If Kentucky decides to presents my name to the convention in view of existing conditions, that is another thing." He also expressed the opinion that Mr. Cleveland would be the nominee if the Chicago convention should decide that the party could win without New York, and in the event he were not nominated, no New York man would be chosen.

Just So.

Mr. Mills was called "the logical candidate" for Speaker. He was not successful, but it is undesirable that a great many Democrats who did not favor him think it would have been better if he had been.—New York World.

And if Cleveland, who is the "logical" candidate for the Presidency, is not nominated at the Chicago convention, about the latter part of the first week after the Presidential election, the whole Democratic party may feel that it would have been better for the party and country if he had been. Never throw aside the "logical" candidate for an untried quantity.—Cattellburg (Ky.) Democrat.

"Them's our sentiments," as the retiring man said when he pointed to the Lord's Prayer posted on the wall.

Why not gratify Col. Salyer's ambition by making him a delegate to the Chicago convention? We have no man in our district better qualified than he. No one who more idolizes the party to which he belongs. No one who is more anxious for the success of the party than he, and no one who more cheerfully contributes his time and money to the promotion of the Democratic party than Col. John P. Salyer, of West Liberty. He declares in his recent declaration that he is for the best interests of the party, and not for a favorite candidate. He declares that he is of the belief that neither of New York's most prominent candidates can be elected; not that they are unfit for the position, but for the lack of unity of the Democrats of that State. Let our delegates be men who are for the best interest of the party, and who have no selfish motive in view, and in their wisdom they will name a standard bearer who will be the most acceptable to the people.—Morgan County Messenger.

There has been for a long time considerable anxiety as to who Governor Brown would appoint Railroad Commissioner for Eastern Kentucky, and there was a host of applicants for the place, but the Governor selected Mr. W. W. Morris, or less service. It was reasonable to suppose that some one of these would get the position, on the principle that "to the victors belong the spoils," but the boys who yelled for Brown were rewarded by seeing an original Clay man capture the prize: This is politics, but certainly not principle.—Hazel Green Herald.

Their's our sentiments, Bro. Cooper, and "Lay on, Macduff, and damned be he who first cries, Hold, enough!" Governor Brown can smoke out an Eastern Kentucky Democrat upon whom to bestow office located when Republicans are as thick as leaves in Vallombrosa, but in the Tenth Congressional district where Democrats are found in droves, our grateful Governor is unable to find a partisan upon whom he thinks it expedient to bestow a crumb of his official patronage. A mighty man this far famed and far "fetched" Governor—wif he be drinks.—Morgan County Messenger.

MORGAN COUNTY.

Maytown Missiles.

H. W. Little has bought the Rev. R. D. Bivins' property, near the Sulphur spring.

Mrs. Nelly Shumate, of Gates Station, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Mauker.

Married, in town, last night, Cooper Ingram to Miss Sallie Peters, Rev. W. W. Mauker officiating.

Can't some one of the many HERALD readers send a blacksmith to Maytown? Steady work and good pay.

W. W. Mauker has bought of M. W. Pieratt a nice lot on Main street and is getting lumber on the ground for a fine residence.

James Neff was moving at an unusual pace Saturday evening. When asked the trouble, he said, "Nothing at all." It's a girl this time.

T. P. Williams was on our streets a few days ago, hat under arm, and said the Democrats wanted to burn his hat because they were both boys and named Roy Blaine and Reed Allison.

Asa Pieratt, his little son Dorey and Miss Lizzie, daughter of Hon. J. M. Pieratt, of Ezel, were in town Saturday to meet Mrs. Frazer and little daughter from Charleston, Ill. Mrs. F. is a sister of Hon. G. B. Swango.

Bro. Joseph Lykins, of Cox Lodge, No. 464, will deliver a Masonic address at Maytown on Saturday, 14th inst., at one o'clock. He will also confer the Eastern Star degree. The fraternity everywhere are invited to be present.

Well, the John Robinson show has come and gone, and so has the Peoples party convention; but, oh, where has it gone? Echō answers, From whence it came. Only two counties in the district represented at the Campton convention last Saturday. What a disappointment to the would-be leaders of that g. p. p.

May 9. WINGLESS.

LOOK OUT FOR OUR BARCAIN COUNTERS.

It Will Pay You to Read All This.

While in Cincinnati we got hold of a Stock of Goods at 50 cents on the dollar, spot cash, which we are going to give to our friends and the public while it lasts. We have made up our minds that we are going to show the people that we appreciate their splendid patronage in the past, and we are going to sell the splendid purchase we made at less than the goods can be manufactured for. All we ask of you is to give our several

BARCAIN TABLES

A look. We are going to name a few of the many big drives we will offer you:

Good Plaid Cotton, sold for 81c., now 5c. a yard.
New Spring Style Dress Prints, fast colors, 4c. a yard.
New Spring Style Dress Prints, fast colors, 5c. a yard.
Plaid Cheviot Suiting, former price 15c, now 6c. a yard.
Camels' Hair Suitings, formerly 20c., now 10c. a yard.
Heavy Jeans, two good colors, 10c., a yard.
Heavy Cottontade, worth 20c., now 10c. a yard.
Cedar Pencils 5c. a dozen.
Large Rubber Head Lead Pencils, 10c. a dozen.
Falcon Bank and School Pens, 5c. a dozen.
5c. Needles, or three papers for 5c.
Large size Shaving Glass worth 10c. for 5c.
Extra large size Shoe Blacking 5c. a box.
Good Shoe Brush for 10c.
Good Garter Web 2 yards 5c. or 25c. a bolt.
2 Extra large boxes Lily White for 5c.
Heavy Weight Note Paper, 24 sheets or 1 quire, 5c.
50 Envelopes or 2 packages for 5c.
Five Thimbles, all sizes, for 5c.
Extra large Gilt Back Blank Book for 5c.
Wire Garters and Sleeve Holders 5c.
24 Shoe Laces for 5c.
7, 8 and 9-inch Covered Dress Steels 5c. a dozen.
Large 8 inch Rubber Redding Comb for 5c.
Large Horn and Rubber Fine Comb, two for 5c.
Large Double Lock Money Purse 5c.
School and Package Strap 10c.
Ladies' Hose, absolutely fast black, 5c. a pair.
Ladies Fancy Hose, extra large, 5c. a pair.
Seamless Mixed Socks 5c. a pair.
Splendid Fancy Socks 5c. a pair.
Children's Black and Fancy Hose 5c. a pair.
Fancy Donet Flannel Overshirts 25c. each.
Men's Fancy Web End Suspenders 10c. a pair.
28-inch Turkey Red Bandana Handkerchief 5c.
Children's Fancy Handkerchiefs 1c. each.
Extra heavy and well made Striped Jeans Pants worth $1.50 for $1.00 a pair.
Extra heavy 16-rib Umbrellas for 75c. each.
Genuine Gloria Silk Umbrellas for $1. each.
Large Fancy Border Hand Towels 10c. a pair.
Fancy Colored Window Curtains, good, 5c. a yard.
One dozen Napkins, fringed, for 25c.

And thousands of other items we could name at equally low prices. In addition to above immense bargains we will sell to every cash purchaser of $500 or over, also to every person paying us $10.00 or over in cash on notes and accounts, low prices.

6 Pounds of our Choicest Coffee for One Dollar.

We also give free to every cash purchaser of $1.00 or more a very handsome gilt frame looking glass, or a large size picture or chromo. We have the largest

General Merchandise

Stock in the State outside of Louisville. We want your patronage and will make prices to secure it.

We will also take in exchange for merchandise or on notes and accounts all kinds or merchantable produce, live stock, saw logs and railroad cross ties.

J. T. DAY & CO.,

THE

LEADING MERCHANTS OF EASTERN KENTUCKY.

FRED J. HEINTZ
Manufacturing Jewelers,
135 E. MAIN STREET,
Custom House Square,
LEXINGTON, KY.

COMPETENT
AND SKILLED EMPLOYEES
IN OUR VARIOUS DEPARTMENT
WATCHES, DIAMONDS,
CLOCKS,
JEWELRY,
Solid Silver
AND Optical Goods.

TRIMBLE BROS.,
WHOLESALE
GROCERS,
MT. STERLING, KY.

Consignments of produce and the patronage of Mountain Merchants respectfully solicited.

J. R. Sharp, Bruce Trimble, T. G. Denton,
SHARP, TRIMBLE & DENTON,
MT. STERLING, KY.

Have now a complete line of Clothing, Hats, Boots, Shoes and Gents' Furnishing Goods.
We solicit an inspection of our goods, and guarantee prices satisfactory and articles as recommended.

TRADERS DEPOSIT BANK,
MT. STERLING, KY.

CAPITAL, $200,000. | SURPLUS, $30,000.

J. M. BIGSTAFF, President.
G. L. KIRKPATRICK, Vice President.
W. W. THOMPSON, Cashier.

We respectfully solicit the business of merchants, farmers, traders and business men generally throughout Eastern Kentucky. A general banking and exchange office. Give us a chance to send you a bank book, pay your checks, and loan you money when in need. W. W. THOMPSON, Cashier.

R. S. STRADER & SON,
(Successors to J. A. LAIL & CO.)

74 E. MAIN STREET, LEXINGTON, KY.

Wholesale Dealers in Straight Kentucky Whiskies, Wines, Brandies, &c.

FINE OLD WHISKY A SPECIALTY.
CIGARS AND TOBACCO.

Agents for "Old Pugh, Old Pepper, Old Tarr and Old Taylor."

H. & G. FEDER,
"Cut Price House."
165 & 167 RACE STREET,

CINCINNATI, OHIO.

UNDERWEAR, SHAWLS, HOSIERY, GLOVES, BLANKETS, SUSPENDERS, and all kinds of small wares and other goods in Notion and Furnishing Goods Line.

H. & G. FEDER & CO.,
300 Church Street, New York.
Special attention to mail orders.

THE WINCHESTER BANK,
WINCHESTER, KY.

N. H. WITHERSPOON, President.

R. D. HUNTER, Cashier.

Paid up Capital, $200,000.00.
Surplus, $60,000.00.

This Bank solicits the accounts of mercantile farmers, tradesmen and business men generally throughout Eastern Kentucky, and offers its customers every facility, and the most liberal terms within the limits of legitimate banking.

ROSE & DeBUSK,
PRACTICAL

Blacksmiths and Wagonmakers.

HAZEL GREEN, KY.

Blacksmithing of all kinds solicited and work promptly done. We make a specialty of building 2-horse wagons, and guarantees all work.

ROSE & DeBUSK—All who are indebted to the firm, or either of us for work, must come and settle, and cash or satisfactory terms will be demanded for all work done hereafter. Thanking you for your kind attention to the above, we are respectively,

ROSE & DeBUSK.

Hazel Green Herald.

SPENCER COOPER, Publisher.

HAZEL GREEN, I : : KY.

UNDERSTOOD.

I loved a maiden once so well
And that is more the truth to tell
Than how to love I'd care;
And she would let me kiss her hand
When I'd been very good—
That is the way I would understand.
At length I understood.

I asked her for her photograph
To light my lonely room;
She laughed a merry little laugh,
Then said to my gloom,
For that was the way I would—
She did not think she could—
Because I might not understand.
And then I understood.

I woed her in the morning, noon,
And afternoon, and night,
I woed her from the very moon
And stars for her delight;
She said my love was truly grand,
And that the world would—
And she said that I would understand—
How well I understood!

At last I took by force of arms
The kisses she denied;
Her dimples were her chiefest charm,
And she was never to be won,
But I tattered with nimble hand
She rearranged her snood.
"I knew you wouldn't understand!"
But I had understood.

—William Hard McVicker, in Century.

CHAPTER V.—CONTINUED.
She greeted Olive kindly enough and flitted slowly up a dark staircase to lead her to a bedroom. The willing lad had uncurled his box, and when the door was open she shrank to the glass and surveyed herself disconsolately by gas-light. Out of doors in the country the sweet May daylight was lingering still, but night falls early on a London household.

"He must have thought me looking dowdy and plain," she mused, taking off her bonnet and flinging it on the bed. "Lucy was right when she told me to get my new clothes made in town. He sees so many beautifully dressed girls that he feels ashamed of me."

It comforted Olive to lay the blame of Michael's coldness on her village bonnet. She was not without a little natural vanity, and had always been accustomed to hear that she was a pretty girl. Michael had said so, many and many a time in the earlier days of their love-making. Out-spoken compliments were in fashion at Eastmeon, and even the "bumpkins," as Michael contemptuously termed them, were not insensible to the charms of a pair of soft brown eyes, which were now gazing at the reflection of their owner through tears, but Olive resolutely conquered the desire to weep.

Not only because she wanted to look her prettiest did she keep the tears back. For the sake of the good uncle, a stranger, and yet well known, she would carry a smiling face downstairs. She had looked only for a little kindness, but had received her improved appearance with a smile. The lad had all but given up his disappointment out of sight. She still wore the saucy gown, but her pretty shape revealed itself in spite of rustic dress-making; and the soft rough hair, no longer hidden under the objectionable bonnet, curled carelessly over her white forehead. The old enchantment began to steal over Michael's spirit as he watched Olive as she talked to the Wakes; her face, lovely, in repose, gained new charms when she smiled at the uncle. With care and training—his training, she might yet be admiring in the circles that he was strutting to enter. Anyhow she was his own chosen sweetheart, and the best part of his nature would cling to her to the end.

The little parlor looked bright enough when she reentered it, and Michael was struck with her improved appearance. The girl had a will of her own, and she had all but given up his disappointment out of sight. She still wore the saucy gown, but her pretty shape revealed itself in spite of rustic dress-making; and the soft rough hair, no longer hidden under the objectionable bonnet, curled carelessly over her white forehead. The old enchantment began to steal over Michael's spirit as he watched Olive as she talked to the Wakes; her face, lovely, in repose, gained new charms when she smiled at the uncle. With care and training—his training, she might yet be admiring in the circles that he was strutting to enter. Anyhow she was his own chosen sweetheart, and the best part of his nature would cling to her to the end.

Mrs. Wake had taken possession of the flowers and lingered over them with a faint show of pleasure. She had put some hyacinths on the supper table and again their perfume saddened Olive. She was sitting back to old days. Michael was here, sitting by her side, but she found herself longing for a younger and simpler Michael, who had stood beside her father's grave with his eyes full of tears.

But before the evening meal came to an end the lovers were on better terms with each other. And when Michael rose to take his leave Uncle Wake disappeared into the dark shop and his wife vanished like a phantom, leaving the young pair alone together.

"Olive, I am your man, taking her by the arm and looking into her face with all the old fondness, "Olive, I can scarcely believe that this is not a dream. I shall see you every Sunday, dear; you don't know how I have always missed you on Sundays. Give me a kiss and convince me that you are a real creature. I'm half afraid of waking up to-morrow and finding that you are still miles away from me."

For the second time she lifted her face to his, less frankly and gladly than before. She loved him as truly and deeply as ever, but the girl's confidence in herself was never really real. For the first time she won her ground against mistakes; she had learned to control those natural impulses of affection which had hitherto been unchecked. And the lesson had been mastered very quickly, for there is no learner more rapid than a loving woman.

"I am real enough, Michael," she said, quietly. "There is no fear of my going back to Eastmeon, even if I could travel on the wings of the wind like the princess in a fairy tale. You know I am not wanted there."

"I have you left them. I did not like my future wife to live under the same roof with Tom Challock and his girls."

"But there is something good in Peggy and Jane."

"Olive, you must forget Peggy and Jane; it doesn't matter whether they are good or bad. You have now to train yourself for the position you will fill one day."

"Yes, Michael, I am quite willing to train myself," she answered weakly.

He gazed with regard to her with an air of gracious approval, and drew her closer into his arms.

"Dearest Olive," he said in an encouraging tone, "I will take care of you, and help you in everything. You have only to trust in my guidance and you will be a very happy woman."

He spoke as if her happiness was entirely in his hands—as if it were the easiest thing in the world to insure her perfect contentment in the future—as if he could lift her out of the reach of life's experiences, like a child.

Nothing is more surprising than the confidence which some people have in themselves. Michael Chase had always believed immensely in himself, and he felt so wise and admirable at this moment that he would have cheerfully directed the affairs of the nation.

"And now good night, dear," he added. "I shall come to you after breakfast to-morrow. We will have a long day together."

The boy went his way, and Olive heard the door shut and bolted behind her. Mrs. Wake reappeared, and, asked, in her faint voice, if she was not quite worn out?

"Olive is made of capital stuff that's warranted to stand a good deal of wear and tear," said Samuel Wake, coming forward again. "But if she is the wise girl I take her to be, she will go and get a night's rest as soon as she can."

All was order in her little room, but it was hard to lie down and sleep after such an exciting day. It seemed to Olive that she had lost the sweetest of some one else's life which had got into her life by mistake. At last she shut her eyes and rested her head on the pillow, and then all the sights that she had seen and the voices she had heard were seen in the darkness.

"Does he love me as well as ever?" she thought. "I think so, I hope so," and with an honest heart she told herself that all would come right in the end.

CHAPTER VI. THE FIRST LONDON SUNDAY.

Olive woke up in the morning as fresh and bright as ever; but she was a little disposed to undervalue her freshness and brightness. She had nothing better to wear than her village bonnet and gown, and to-day she was going to church with Michael. The girl's heart was very tender and humble; a flash of

CHAPTER VI.
THE FIRST LONDON SUNDAY.

Olive woke up in the morning as fresh and bright as ever; but she was a little disposed to undervalue her freshness and brightness. She had nothing better to wear than her village bonnet and gown, and to-day she was going to church with Michael. The girl's heart was very tender and humble; a flash of

It seemed to her an interminable walk, and yet her limbs were not weary. They got at last to the Marble Arch, and her heart revolved a little at the sight of grass and trees. Michael led her to a bench, and they sat down.

"We won't go to church," he said, "but I'll confess I'm not a church-going man. I like fresh air; it clears my brain and strengthens me for the week's work; and now we can talk quietly, Olive, and I can tell you about something which has been in my mind for nearly two years."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self. And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

Olive was honestly trying to give him her full attention, but all this was not very interesting. Two girls went tripping by; they were golden-brown frocks and straw bonnets adorned with beretts that looked like if they had been washed in the water. She could not help wondering how much their costumes had cost and sighting for a buttercup then another girl came by with her swan, and her dress was perfectly enchanting.

Michael came in when breakfast was over. And if in Olive's eyes he had seemed imposing on Saturday night, he was truly magnificent on Sunday morning. His clothes were fashionable and unmistakably new, and he wore a dainty "buttonhole." Uncle Wake surveyed him with quiet amusement, and watched to see the effect of all this splendor on Olive. The effect was certainly depressing.

The girl looked at her lover doubtfully. She had always known Michael was almost as she had told him in words what was passing in her mind. All his life he had been intensely interested in other people's lives, and now he understood what Olive was feeling, and what Michael was not feeling. He saw that she went unwillingly upstairs to get ready for their walk, and he was sure that she would return with an anxious look, afraid of being seen a second time in that countrified bonnet.

She came back with just the look that he had expected to see, and Michael instantly made up his mind to begin his courtship again.

"Even if you another bonnet, Olive?" he asked. "That did very well in the train, but it does not do for this morning."

"I am sorry," she said gently, with a deep blush. "I am going to buy some new things to-morrow."

"If I were a young man I should not look at the bonnet while that face was inside it."

This observation came from Uncle Wake, and Michael passed it over in contented silence. A few minutes later the young couple went together into the sunshiny street, and Olive was utterly dispirited and disappointed.

"My dear girl," said Michael, after a pause, "you must really begin to study your appearance. You ought to have been better dressed for my sake. We may meet some of the people I know. Sometimes on Sundays I have even run up against Edward Battersby himself. Of course he would expect me to introduce him to his wife, and I would be glad to do so, but I have not yet had the time to think of that bonnet and gown?"

"I am sorry," poor Olive repeated, "but you know, Michael, that you wished me to come on a Saturday. If I had arrived early in the week I could have got some new things ready for Sunday."

"Why not have bought some better things before you started?" he asked irritably.

"Michael, have you forgotten what kind of a girl I am?" he said. His unceasing words provoked her. "Have you forgotten that I have been living miles away from any town?"

He had really forgotten it for the moment. They walked on together in silence along the Strand, and when they turned into Trafalgar square Olive almost forgot her annoyance. She stood still with a brightening face to look at the great stone lions asleep in the sunlight, and the foam and sparkle of the fountains. Other people looked at her as they went by, and half smiled at the fresh delicacy she showed her bonnet.

Michael hurried her on.

"Do try to take things calmly," he implored. "That brute who has just passed us was actually laughing at you. In London, people don't go into raptures in the streets."

There was no need for a second warning against raptures. With such a wet blanket hanging over her Olive was not likely to enjoy any more sights that morning. She walked on dejectedly by his side, and asked herself if this was the life she had chosen.

It was this that first took to her heart that she had longed for so blindly; this was the "distant and the dim" that she had been so "sick to greet!"

It seemed to her an interminable walk, and yet her limbs were not weary. They got at last to the Marble Arch, and her heart revolved a little at the sight of grass and trees. Michael led her to a bench, and they sat down.

"We won't go to church," he said, "but I'll confess I'm not a church-going man. I like fresh air; it clears my brain and strengthens me for the week's work; and now we can talk quietly, Olive, and I can tell you about something which has been in my mind for nearly two years."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

"You know," he began, "how rapidly I have been rising ever since I went to Battersby's works. Old Battersby is breaking down very fast; he has not been the same since his brother died. It was after the brother died that Edward Battersby was taken into partnership, and when his father died he will be the sole representative of the firm."

She prepared herself to listen. After all, it was silly of her to be unhappy because he had found fault with her rustic ways. She supposed that training was always right, and that the girl with the faded green of the young foliage quivering overhead, and the May sunshine resting on the broad space of sand in front of her, she was feeling more like her old self.

And surely if Michael had not loved her he would not have been so anxious to tell her everything!

HOME HINTS AND HELPS.

—A teaspoonful of whole black mustard seed will stop vomiting. In severe cases a tablespoonful may be given.

—Boiled Mackerel: Boil until the skin slips off easily. Remove the bones, and serve with drawn butter.—House-keeper.

—To tighten cane-seat chairs turn up the chair-bottom and wash the cane-work thoroughly with soapy water and a soft cloth. Let it dry in the air, and it will be firm as new, provided the cane has not been broken.—Ladies' Home Journal.

—Make an ordinary layer cake and for the filling take a slice of cake, chop it and add powdered sugar to taste, put into the cake between the layers. It makes a very nice cake for a change, although it will not keep nicely more than two days.

—Dressing for Baked Fish: From three to five crackers rolled fine, one small cupful of chopped salt pork, one tablespoonful of butter, one teaspoonful of pepper; sage and summer savory to taste. One finely chopped onion for those who like the flavor.—House-keeper.

—Vinegar Sausage: For a pint of sauce, mix together two cupfuls of flour and half a nutmeg, grated. Pour into this a generous pint of boiling water, stirring all the while. Add two table-spoonfuls of vinegar and a level tea-spoonful of salt, and simmer for twenty minutes.—Good Housekeeping.

—Irish Potato Pie: A common-sized teacup of grated raw potato, and a quart of sweet milk. Let the milk boil, and stir in grated potato. When cool add two or three eggs, well beaten, sugar, pepper to taste. Bake without upper crust and eat the day it is baked. This makes two pies.—Boston Free Press.

—Raised Doughnuts: Three eggs, one cup of sugar, one-third cup of butter, three pints of bread sponge. Mix with the hand as soft as possible; let it rise. Mold again; have the breadboard floured, put the dough on it, roll out half an inch thick and cut out. Let them raise half an hour. Fry in moderately hot lard.—Boston Budget.

—A sheet of glass—a window-pane for example—can be bent as easily as a sheet of cardboard. The heat consists in keeping the glass, the shears and the hands under water during the operation. The glass can be cut in straight or curved lines without a break or a crack. This is because the water deadens the vibrations of the shears and the glass. If the least part of the shears comes in contact with the water, the vibration will be sufficient to melt the glass or cause it to snap.

—HATS AND BONNETS.

Some of the Spring Styles are Unique and Beautiful.

The shop which you are gay with hats and bonnets, festoons of bright satin and moire ribbons, and garlands of flowers, rivaling in delicacy and exquisiteness of coloring the fragrant models from which they are copied. Straws are even more lacy and transparent than those of last year, crowns are absurdly small, and ribbons with flowers the favorite decoration. A peculiarly vivid yet soft shade of blue is the most strongly marked of the fashionable tints. The manecine style still prevails, and is tilted and twisted in a great variety of becoming shapes. Among the new hats is one of sheer open straw with a lace of silk in front and a mass of ribbon at the back. The strings are of even satin ribbon fastened high up on the hair beneath a rosette. Another very springy straw of black lace straw was lined with pink chintz and trimmed with green ribbon and pink flowers.

A dove-like little bonnet is of gray fancy straw, scalloped with silver cord and trimmed with gray velvet ribbon and strings and a silver and pink rose. A pictureque hat of fine light straw has its crown veiled in green Bengaline silk and encircled with a torseade in gay striped ribbon, caught up at the sides with an old paste buckle and with ends of embroidered lace, round a cluster of yellow ostrich tips.—N. Y. Sun.

—NEW CORSETS and SASHES.

More antique in large waves and plaid silks are the novelties used for herself or for men dressed for spring. They are cut in the most fashionably of the prettiest being in two points high in the back, then tapered on the sides, almost to a point in the front, to meet under a small shouf of the moire. Another of gay plaid silk on a dark wool dress is even all around, beginning two or three inches below the armholes, reaching to the edge of the corseage, which curves slightly below the belt line. It is fitted by a seam down the middle of the back, and also down the front, and is hooked on the left side. Whitebuckles are in the seams of this corselet and on each side. A bow of two great loops of silk tightly strapped is in the back, and sash ends, each twelve inches wide, fall thence nearly to the end of the skirt. Satin ribbons four to six inches wide, is set on the top of skirts, to serve as a soft belt when the skirt is put on, above the edge of the corseage, and narrow satin or sash in the back. The short breeches sash is quite wide, and merely crossing the front of the corseage, is in a large bow with short ends on the left side.—Harper's Bazaar.

—Indian Tradition of the Flood.

There was not, if early historians, missionaries and theologians are to be believed, a single tribe of American Indians who had, at the time of the white man's advent in the western hemisphere, the least smattering of tradition concerning the life, ministry and sufferings of Jesus. But the Indians did not hold good in relation to the stories of the Flood, the Tower of Babel and the Flood, many of them having traditional history which almost exactly corresponds with the stories of these great events as related in the Bible.

One day Maj. Davenport, the government agent for the Musquakies, was telling some chiefs about Noah, the flood and the Ark, when one interrupted him with: "Bumpe! We know that long time. We was in noines all tied together. We float on heat water. We send muskrat down one, two—many times. He dive, come up. Last he go down and come up with mud in his claw. We know water going down." This was all the information Maj. Davenport could elicit from the dusky seer.—St. Louis Republic.

—When the Fernande was wrecked on the Washington coast recently the entire crew went down with her, except three sailors, who owe their lives to the great bravery of a Mrs. Edward White. Mrs. White lives on the beach near where the wreck occurred, and with surprising heroism she waded out alone into the breakers and pulled the exhausted and almost lifeless men ashore.

—Beware of Instruments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the nostrils, such instruments should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damages they will do are often greater than the good can be derived from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, contains no mercury, and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the mucous surfaces of the system. In fact Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials.

—Sold by Druggists, price 5c per bottle.

—TRUST men and they will be true to you; treat them gently and they will show them-selves great.—Emerson.

—Only One Ever Printed—Can You Find

There is a 3 cent display advertisement in this paper, this week, which has no words but all except one word, which is the name of each new one appearing each week, from The Druggist's Medicine Co. This house places a "Crescent" on everything they make and publish. Look for it, send the name of the paper and then you will return you book, beautiful lithographs or samples free.

—There was a fire in a lawyer's office here the other day that was caused by a soot in the chimney.—Lowell Courier.

—"I am losing flesh," said the butcher as he dug into a sirloin steak.—Washington Star.

—To be married is not always to be married.

—With many religion never gets above the knees.—Texas Sittings.

—It is a mistaken idea that loud talk gives tone to society.—Boston Post.

—The typewriter is said to be the only weapon a man has the right to dictate to.—Boston Star.

—We learn to love with easy teaching.

—It is really easier to pay a bill than to skirt it.

—Liquorism Drives—Going out between the acts.—Union Standard.

—A man in a brown suit must have some object to give color to his thoughts.—Picayune.

—In case of too much money—start a newspaper.—Texas Sittings.

—Many of the applicants for divorce acknowledge that they have made a sour mouth.—National Weekly.

—Age should make a woman beautiful.

—The tail of tail is now "short," loose and tight, "collieen warm" and big men "small."—Philadelphia Record.

—"This is my death blow," remarked the whale as he came up for the last time.—Elmira Gazette.

—Many a man is considered clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

—"A MAN has to do some fine work in his position," remarks a police court magistrate.—Washington Star.

—It is often very hard to convince a young man deeply in love with a daughter girl that the time will ever come when he will refuse to eat her pie.—Somerville Journal.

—A man in a considerate clever whose only stock in trade is other people's wit.—N. Y. Journal.

The Strength of the Third Party.

Now that the third party has begun to draw its sympathizers out of the Democratic and Republican parties, it is becoming apparent that the third party is not quite as formidable in this State as many thought it would be when the third party men commenced to make their boasts about breaking the backbone of the Georgia Democracy. No doubt a good many good Democrats have been lured into the third party by the representations of speakers that are impossible of fulfillment, but the number is not alarmingly large. Before the campaign is over it is probable that most of them will be back again in the Democratic party. In fact, many who rather leaned towards the third party have given up all purpose of joining it. They have been convinced that it is not much to the interests of the South, and that the men who are at the head of it are Republicans in principle and are more interested in breaking up the solid South and in getting into office than they are in promoting the welfare of the people. There is certainly less reason now for thinking the third will play an important part in the next election than there was in the month ago. The Allende farmers are beginning to think the Democratic party is good enough for them yet awhile.—Savannah News.

Every family should be provided with some remedies for the winter complaints. The want of such an article is the cause of much suffering, especially during the summer months. In almost every neighborhood some one has died, with cramps or cholera morbus before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. A fair trial will satisfy you that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is unequalled for this purpose. It is certain a cure for dysentery and diarrhea. When reduced with water and sweetened, it is pleasant to take. Children like it. For sale by Rose & Jones.

Some of the U. S. Fish Commissioner was here in charge of Col. J. Fry Lawrence, of Louisville, President of the State Fish and Game club, and Messrs. Rogers, Hagan and Childress, of Washington City, Dailey, of the Courier Journal, Allison, of Louisville, and others. Fifteen cans of the young fish, each containing 125 cans, were distributed Red river, Strode, of Louisville, and Louisville. There were of the variety known as the perch, or wall-eyed pike, a very game fish from Lake Erie, which frequently attains fifteen pounds in weight. Our local Fish and Game club have obtained the promise of a supply of bass, goggle eyes, bream, new-lights, etc., for Howard's creek, New-Market, and can be obtained in number, rapid creeks, and also for ponds.

Attention is being drawn all over the country to our streams as a source of food. In many of the older countries the lakes and rivers supply food for a considerable portion of the population and there is no reason why it should not be the case here. In order to reach this conclusion, however, the preservation of our fish must be exercised. The men with seines drag the streams, pick out the largest and let the rest die on the bank. The dynamiter, for the sake of a few fish of eatable size, will kill thousands of smaller size. The gravel banks are eagerly watched at spawning time and every parent fish is taken, leaving the young fish to perish of little ones. The attention of our lawmakers has been drawn to this fact and a vigorous law for the preservation of fish and game is being considered by the Legislature and will doubtless find a place on the statute books. The local game and fish club will make an earnest effort for the preservation of our fish and game and will be supported by every good citizen. Legitimate sport will not be interfered with, and the pot hunter and the dynamiter must go. Winchester Democrat.

There is one remedy which every family should have on hand. John Carpenter of Woodland, Indiana, says of it: "I tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for diarrhea and severe cramps, and pains in the stomach and bowels, with the best results. In the worst cases I never had to give more than the third dose to effect a cure. In most cases two doses will do. Besides its other qualities, it is pleasant to take." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Rose & Jones.

The smoke of the recent primary Congressional canvas has hardly cleared away, but the smoke of war still remains, smoldering among the hills, yet the necessity of a new one to those who aspire to represent us in the next Congress, impel them to commence looking after their fences. It is probable that Mr. Kendall will aspire to succeed himself. Hon. C. M. Brooks, of Mt. Sterling, is returning out after his term is over, or perhaps Mr. Clark will assuredly present the name of Judge Lisle again, and Mr. Boles, of Pike, and perhaps others, are in the hands of their friends. Judge Lisle has received assurances of support from many parts of the district, and we firmly believe he will be a winner. When we remember what a brilliant canvas he has before him when coming into the unknown, and in the face of the sentiment that the dead Congressman's son should fill out his term, and add to his faculty of making friends wherever he goes, we feel that we have good grounds for this confidence. Yes, Judge Lisle will be our next Congressman.—Winchester Democrat.

A Guaranteed Remedy.

Migraine, the only permanent cure for all forms of headache and neuralgia, relieves the pain in from 15 to 20 minutes. For sale on positive guarantees at THE HERALD office, or sent postpaid by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents a box.

You Pay Your Money and You Take Your Choice.

FOR CLEVELAND.	FOR HILL.
Rhode Island.....	8 New York.....
North Dakota.....	6
Minnesota.....	18
Pennsylvania.....	64
Nebraska.....	11
Wyoming.....	6
Kansas.....	20
Oregon.....	4
Indiana.....	36
	—
Total.....	206

And Texas just as well as added to the Cleveland column.—Galveston (Texas) News.

Some of the Grand Army boys may be interested in the following from Alex B. Pope, A. D. C. Commander Dept. Tenn. and Ga.: "We have had an epidemic of whooping cough here, and the men who are at the head of it are Republicans in principle and are more interested in breaking up the solid South and in getting into office than they are in promoting the welfare of the people. There is certainly less reason now for thinking the third will play an important part in the next election than there was in the month ago. The Allende farmers are beginning to think the Democratic party is good enough for them yet awhile.—Savannah News.

In this issue a call is issued for a convention to choose delegates to the State convention, and to be held at the National convention. For wonder, there is but little talk of aspirants in this district. The pronounced candidates is Hon. John P. Salyers. He is evidently a Hill man, though disguised as a Carlisle man. The people of this section are for Cleveland and will see to it that the man who represents them is sound in the faith, even as the case we hardly think Mr. Salyers will represent us at the great gathering of the untried.—Winchester Democrat.

Chambers' Eye and Skin Ointment.

A CERTAIN cure for Chronic Sore Eyes, Tert, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Oil, Chronic Sore, Fever Sore, Eczema, Ich, Prairie Scratches, Sore Nipples, etc. This ointment has been cured by it after all other treatment had failed. It is put up in 25 and 50 cent boxes. For sale by Rose & Swango.

Died, at Campion, April 24, after a long illness, Hon. C. M. Banks, aged about 78 years. He was the father of Mrs. Chas. S. Guy, of this county, and was one of the most prominent men in the community. He had served many years as Jailer, Representative and Common Pleas Judge, and when Wolfe county was created, spent nearly all his fortune in advocating the claims of Campion to be the county seat as against Hazel Green.—Winchester Democrat.

Exhibition trial Oct. 9, 1886, 2:35 P.M.

Bar horses, 15 hands 3 inches high, foaled May 3, 1878. The handsomest of his great sire, and the handsomest of any trotting horse in the State. Sired by SIR HENRY WILKES 2:22.

Sire of Harry Wilkes 2:13½, Guy Wilkes 2:15½, Mike Wilkes, 2:13½, Tom 16½, Soso 2:17½, Wilcox, pacer, 2:16½, Rose Wilkes 2:18½, Wilton 2:19½.

Mares bred by the season not proving for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

foal have the usual privileges of return, for sale high priced colts, or mares out of producing dams, by a greater number of prominent mares, than can be had on application. Mares kept at regular rates.

